SUBJECT: Review of Proposed Regulations (Enclosed)

1. As per your transmittal slip of 3 July 1953, I have reviewed the enclosed regulations, both of themselves and in the context of the Federal Personnel Manual.
2. As suggested by you, the regs seem to be a "re-hash" of the FPM; but as the latter is not presented in the format of the former, a close review is impossible unless more time is allotted. 25X1A
3. As regards your objection to the regulations' possibly not allowing a person to resign, it is my thought that the cognate part of Section 2-c, of [redacted] applies only to those instances in which resignation would not be in order anyway, i.e. Separation for Disability, Removal for Delinquency or Misconduct, etc. Certain wording of the same regulation seems to preserve the right to resign inviolate (see last sentence of Section 2-c); and this seems to cover the instance of an employee who wishes to resign and so may not be held against his will or, generally speaking, "railroaded". In my opinion, a person should not be entitled
